All of us need to band together and complain to the Illinois State Bar Association. When they get a few thousand complaints about Steele, they can bring some heat and make it difficult to continue his activities. I'm thinking of using the same route as the MTQs – send anonymous letters through a remailing service so we don't identify ourselves. The state bar can do their own research on Google. Of course, we will kindly include the phrases to search for, i.e. "Steele Hansmeier letter" and "Steele Hansmeier phone calls"

Hit him where it really hurts 😊

He's moving to Florida, where subpoenas flow freely from state courts thanks to an archaic law.

Indeed, but isn't he still registered with the Illinois State Bar Assoc? Or do we need to contact the Florida State Bar now?
